题目: Listening is more important than talking

Which do you think is more important, Listening or talking? This is an interesting comparison. In our daily lives, it would be rather difficult to strike a perfect balance between listening and talking. Not everyone, however, chooses to talk more, or believes that it is advisable to do so. As far as I am concerned, I harbor the idea that more careful listening to others' opinions seems more beneficial.

It is no easy task to find the reasons for this, which includes several factors. First and foremost, more careful listening to others' opinions plays a significant role in our daily studies as well as personal growth. In addition, it has been a necessary part of our career competence. To take job development as an example, more careful listening to experienced seniors' opinions will provide us with more advanced knowledge, wider horizon and more professional skills, which may put us in a favorable position in the job market.

To sum up, we can safely reach the conclusion that as a college student, we should make full use of limited time to listen more to others' opinions before talking. Only by this way can we gain more opportunities for development, and make great progress in the near future.

题目: Learning is a daily experience and lifetime mission

It is universally accepted that learning is a daily experience and lifetime mission. As an old saying goes, it is never too late to learn. I do believe that, for both college students and those who have already graduated, it is a more important and everlasting source of wisdom and knowledge.

Indeed, there is a growing tendency for people to stress the importance and value of lifetime learning. What are the causes leading to this situation? First and foremost, lifetime learning is an ongoing process. With the continued growth of the world, knowledge and skills are also changed at express speed. Since each person is a member in the modern society, lifetime learning is an inevitable result and there is no way to avoid it. To take job development as another example, lifetime learning will provide us with more opportunities to enhance their professional skills, which may put us in a favorable position in the job market.

To sum up, we can safely reach the conclusion that as a college student, we should consider learning as a daily experience and lifetime mission.

Only by this way can we gain more opportunities for development, and make great progress in the near future.

Never go out there to see what happens, go out there to make things happen.

教育我们不要做旁观者,要做行动者。

Success is something that many people strive for. When we consider the various factors that play a role in determining whether a person is successful in life, going out to make things happens instead of going out to see what happens is the first coming into my mind. As far as I am concerned, being creative rather than mere onlookers is vital to the achievement of success.

It is no easy task to find the reasons for this, which includes several factors. First and foremost, being creative rather than mere onlookers has been a necessary part of our career competence. In addition, it will bring about positive and profound impact on everyone, and even the whole society, which may benefit us quite a lot. To take job development as an example, being creative rather than mere onlookers will provide us with more advanced knowledge, wider horizon and more professional skills, which may put us in a favorable position in the job market.

To sum up, we can safely reach the conclusion that we, as college students, should make better use of time to enhance innovative awareness. Only by this way can we gain more opportunities for development, and make great progress in the near future.
