

2016 考研英语二小作文范文

大连新东方 张玲

Dear Jack,

Thanks for your sincere congratulation and I heard that you would like to participate in the same translation contest next month. Please allow me to put forward some effective suggestions to you concerning how to improve your translation skills.

First and foremost, it is beneficial for you to buy some reference books, such as professional vocabulary books and exercise books, which can help you gain a better understanding of translation basic skills. Besides, you can attempt to consult some teachers specialized in translation and ask for some scoring principles. Most importantly, regular practice can help you improve your skills step by step and lay a solid foundation.

I really hope you will find my suggestions practical and I would like to see your improvement in this regard.

Sincerely yours,

Zhang Wei
