When you are in England, you must be very careful in the street because the traffic drives on the left. You must look at the right first and then the left, and then you can cross the street. If the traffic lights are red, the traffic must stop. Then the people on foot can cross the road. If the traffic lights are green, the traffic can go. People on foot mustn't cross.

When you go by bus in England, you have to be careful, too. Always remember the traffic moves on the left. Have a look first, or you will go the wrong way. In many English cities, there are big buses with two floors. You can sit on the second floors. From there you can see the city very well. It's very interesting.

( ) 64. When you are in England, you must remember that _____.

A. there is not any traffic lights.

B. the traffic drives on the left.

C. the traffic drives on the right.

D. there are many cars on the road.

Zhou Yan, a Junior 3 student, wishes he never got a mobile phone. Last week, he went to see a doctor because his arms and fingers were in pain. The doctor told him that he had a "mobile phone disease (疾病)". A growing number of teenagers (青少年) are getting a "mobile phone disease" because most of them are using mobile phones.

Zhou got his mobile phone five months ago. He sent messages to his friends with it all the time. Zhou started to do badly in the exams because he spent much time playing with his mobile phone. His mother got very angry with him. He didn't stop playing with the mobile phone until his arms and fingers got painful.

Yang Ling, a doctor, says that if someone, like Zhou Yan, uses the mobile phone too much, he might get a "mobile phone disease". If teenagers find their arms or fingers painful, they should go to see a doctor as soon as possible. Yang Ling said students should try to use their mobile phones less, especially at school.
