Among the NBA players, Lin Shuhao is my favorite. He was born on August 23, 1988 in California in the USA. In 1977, his parents moved to America. Although they live in the USA, they know they are Chinese. And they love their motherland.

When Lin Shuhao was at high school, he practiced basketball much harder than any other student in his school. Because of him, the school team became the winner of all the high schools in America, which had never got a champion before. At the same time, he studied really hard during high school. He always got "A" in most of his subjects.

After high school, he attended Harvard University by his good grades. He also became the first man in Harvard who entered NBA after 1954.

Lin Shuhao never gave up his basketball dream. He joined several NBA teams, but he was never given a chance to show himself in each game. One day, two players of his team were badly hurt. There were no more players who could play the game. The coach had to let Lin Shuhao go for it. This was a great chance for him. He showed his talent in this game. He got 25 points!

十、书面表达 (共15分)

One possible version:

I think learning in the classroom is better than learning online. In my view, learning is not to get knowledge itself only. The communication skills, the ability to cooperate with others are also necessary for us students.

Last winter, we had to study online through DingTalk at home. One day, our math teacher showed us a new way to solve some math problems. Unfortunately, it puzzled me. I replayed the video again after class but found it impossible for me to understand it. How I wished to ask my classmates and listen to their explanation. I had no choice but to ask my father to discuss with me. Though we got a clear idea eventually through working together, I still had a great need of going back to school and learning in the classroom.

The in-class experience is the traditional one that I've come to expect. At school, this can take on many forms like labs, lectures and so on. Though learning online helps to save time and makes learning convenient, it still has a long way to go to replace learning in the classroom.
