Never can I forget the experience that our class visited the old people 's home on the Double Ninth Festival this year. We were all eager to go there as soon as we could and this time really came, so you could image how happy we were. At about 8:00 in the morning , with tools in hands, we went out of our school towards the nursing home. It was about 9:00 when we arrived there. Though we were a little tired, none of us wanted to have a rest. As some of those old people seldom came out, some of us helped them walk around to breathe the fresh air. Some helped them to wash their clothes, and the others swept the ground. Most of us never did such things at home, so we maybe didn't do these well, but we all tried our best. At about 11:55, we had lunch with them. After lunch, we had a party with those old people. Before we came here, we had already prepared some songs for them. As we expected, they all felt great pleased with our programs. We had a meaningful day.

Double Ninth Festival is an important traditional Chinese festival. Folk customs like climbing mountains and showing our gratitude and respect for the elders deserve to be remembered as they are integral part of the Chinese heritage.
