

2020年12月四级写作参考范文

广州学校 周晖珊

2020年12月大学英语四级作文:

Directions:

For this part, you are allowed 30 minutes to write on the topic Changes in the Ways of Transportation. You should write at least 120 words but no more than 180 words.

[参考范文]

Changes in the Ways of Transportation

Transportation is closely bound up with our everyday lives. In the 21st century, with the growing cross-border travel and longer commuting, modern people ask for a more flexible choice and higher speed of transportation. In this circumstance, the ways of transportation are continuously being changed and upgraded.

First and foremost, an assortment of transportation is diversifying. For example, besides buses and trains, people can choose high-speed railways and subways as their transportation tools. In recent years, Chinese entrepreneurs also invented a new mode called "shared bicycle", which provides flexible choices for short-distance transport.

In addition, the ways of transportation are combined with advanced technology nowadays. To be more specific, online ticketing service are widely adopted by the airplane and high-speed trains, while QR-code has become a normal way to take the subway. It gives us a more comfortable and efficient experience.

In a nutshell, we are so lucky to live in such a modern world with various transportation means and high-tech technologies to choose from. Hence, we should embrace the changes in the way of transportation and make full use of them.

(180 words)

2020年12月四级写作参考范文

广州学校 周晖珊

2020年12月大学英语四级作文:

Directions:

For this part, you are allowed 30 minutes to write on the topic Changes in the Ways of Education. You should write at least 120 words but no more than 180 words.

[参考范文]

Changes in the Ways of Education.

Education has always been the focus of attention. In the 21st century, as the networking technology advances rapidly, people combine education with live streaming technology and electronic devices. And, the ways of education keep changing.

First and foremost, the online lesson has found its way into people's daily lives, which features the advantage of low cost and high efficiency, because it breaks the limit of time and geographic location. Advanced technology also provides online learners with diversified functions to interact with teachers, and that's why online lessons are in full swing nowadays.

In addition, many families regard extracurricular courses as a way to give children an edge. For example, after-class training agencies catch on well in some first-tier cities. Besides regular courses like math and English, some special lessons such as programming courses and brain-training are also drawing people's attention. It is a good supplement to schooling.

In a nutshell, we are so lucky to live in such a modern world with various learning moods and high-tech devices to choose from. Hence, we should embrace the changes in the way of education and make full use of them.

(186 words)

2020年12月四级写作参考范文

广州学校 周晖珊

2020年12月大学英语四级作文:

Directions:

For this part, you are allowed 30 minutes to write on the topic Changes in the Ways of Communication. You should write at least 120 words but no more than 180 words.

[参考范文]

Changes in the Ways of Communication

In such a high-connected society, communication is closely bound up with our everyday lives. As technology advances, the internet, intelligent-artificial and 5G communication technology have found their ways into people's daily lives. In this case, the ways of communication are continuously changing and upgrading.

First and foremost, an assortment of communication is diversifying. In the contemporary world, long distance is no more a barrier for people, as we can choose a variety of ways of communication, including SMS and video chat. Besides, multiple social networking applications provide people chances to interact with like-minded strangers on the internet.

In addition, advanced technology has greatly cut the cost of communication and improve its convenience. For instance, cellphones, once a luxury, have already become affordable necessities nowadays. The young generation can hardly imagine those old days when letters were the only way to connect with people far away.

In a nutshell, we are so lucky to live in such a modern world with various communication means and high-tech devices to choose from. Hence, we should embrace the changes in the way of communication and make full use of them.

(188 words)